Three men are under arrest and an automobile is partially demolished as the result of near tragedy which occurred at 5 p. m. Friday when a woman was knocked to the pavement and hurt, and at 1 a. m. Saturday as an automobile crashed thru the gates at the N. Main-st crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad a few seconds before a fast freight dashed past.

Mrs. Hilda Overwitt, of 433 W. Grand st., as at City hospital suffering from cuts and bruises about the face and body and possible internal injuries, following an accident in which C. W. Black, of 631 W. Spring st. is said to have failed to stop at a "stop" sign and knocked her to the pavement. The automobile passed over her body.

THREE WERE HELD

At a woman, of 220 S. Wood st., was in the city jail charged with driving her automobile while intoxicated and two friends; Jerry, of 839 E. North st., and George Peterson, of E. Findlay st., were held on drunk.

FRENCH WILL KEEP GENEVA ENGAGEMENTS

PARIS—France intends to honor engagements taken at Geneva, Premier Herriot informed Sir Eric Drummond, secretary general of the League of Nations today when the latter informed him that Great Britain requested postponement of consideration of the arbitration and disarmament protocol.

"We hope to keep complete accord with England," the French premier said, "but we will do so without sacrificing the essentials of the protocol."

INSURGENTS IN LITTLE FAVOR

Rep. Longworth Would Ignore
Group Next Session

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press)—Representative Longworth of Ohio, Republican house leader, came out today in favor of restricting the consideration hereafter given the insurgent Republicans in the house.

Those insurgents who failed to support President Coolidge, Longworth said, had no call for undue consideration in the organization of the next house.

The Ohio representative who called upon President Coolidge contended, as have several other Republican members of the house or senate, that inasmuch as the Republicans will be held responsible for legislation, the party

Demented Mother Writes Note
After Taking Lives

CANTON, O.—(By United Press)—Three notes left behind by Mrs. Ruth Burkhardt, 32, of Massillon, who sometime Friday morning hanged her two children and herself in the basement of their home indicated that the woman "feared she was losing her mind."

The sheets of paper upon which the last notes to members of her family were written were torn from an ordinary school tablet. The writing was even and the sentences well composed.

In all the notes the remaining members of the family were urged to "be good," but the only reference made to the two dead children was "that Nellie May and Donald were dead."

The little bodies of Nellie May, 8, and Donald, Jr., 7, and the mother were cut down by Chief of Police Ed M. Ertle, and Patrolman Oliver, who were called to the house by Donald Burkhardt, father of the children.

Two of the notes were written after the lives of the two children

BANDITS ESCAPE WITH $120,000 IN DIAMONDS

CHICAGO—Two bandits today robbed E. T. Morris, New York representative of the Jack Baunstein diamond house of New York City of diamonds valued at $120,000.

Morris was in a south side jewelry store when the bandits entered, locked the proprietor, two employees and Morris in a back room and fled with two grips containing the diamonds.

POST WAR CRAFT UNCOVERED

Fraud and Intrigue Bared
In Germany

BERLIN—(By United Press)—An astounding scandal of post-war inflation and intrigue, in which beautiful Russian dancers, Balkan governments and post-war profiteers were inextricably tangled, has been uncovered here.

Almost hourly new and amazing revelations are being added as the German government digs into the graft and muck of inflation days. The scandal arises from the alleged bribery of Chief Walter Bartels, of the Berlin police praesidium's foreign section, but already far overshadowed that affair.

The revelations show how millions are juggled by post-war profiteers operating on meagre capital; how the profiteers were

Many Distinguished Persons
Send Their Condolences

MARION, O.—(By Associated Press)—Funeral services Monday afternoon at Epworth M. E. church here for Mrs. Florence Kling Harding, who died yesterday at the home of Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, son of the late Dr. C. E. Sawyer, President Harding's physician, will be simple.

This was announced today by George B. Christian Jr., former secretary to Mr. Harding and a lifelong friend of the family, who is in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Tentative funeral plans, Christian said, include singing of "The End of a Perfect Day" by the Columbus Republican Glee club, which, while Mr. Harding was president, was heard often at the White House on special occasions.

The song was Mrs. Harding's favorite and always was requested by her when any musical organization appeared at the executive mansion.

Woman's Leap Is Unexplained

WASHINGTON — Early morning passers by at the senate office building today saw a young woman come hurtling thru a window and plunge 15 feet to the pavement. She suffered a compound fracture of the leg and was taken to a hospital where she refused to give her name.

Those who witnessed the plunge said a man's face appeared at the window and that the young woman, when picked up exclaimed, "Oh, why did he make me jump."

Police are holding for investigation a man said to have been employed in the offices of a senator.

GORE IS NAMED

West Virginian Appointed Secretary of Agriculture

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press)—Howard M. Gore, of West Virginia was today appointed secretary of agriculture to succeed the late Henry C. Wallace.

Gore has been connected with the department for several years. He is now engaged more particularly in working out the estimates in connection with the budget for next year's appropriations and because of his acquaintance with these questions his selection was considered most appropriate by the administration.

Gore also had been endorsed for the post by several farm leaders and farm organizations.

Expert Finds Pastor's Wife Did Not Breathe After Body Entered Death Furnace—Authorities Redouble Effort to Establish Clues

COLUMBUS, O.—(By United Press)—The veil of mystery was lifted from the Sheatsley furnace tragedy today just enough to make the circumstances of her death even more puzzling.

The startling revelation that Mrs. Addie Sheatsley met death by strangulation or suffocation and that her body was not stuffed into the firebox until after she had stopped breathing, was made to John R. King, Franklin-co prosecutor, late last night by Charles Long, the chemist who analyzed her charred remains.

The prosecutor was apparently stunned by this unexpected turn in the strange case to which he has given every minute of his time since Rev. C. V. Sheatsley announced the finding of his wife's body smoldering on a bed of coals in the Lutheran parsonage furnace last Monday night.

The chemist reported to King upon the prosecutor's return to Columbus near midnight from Canton, where he had questioned relatives of the furnace victim in a fruitless attempt to find support for his belief that she was murdered.

"This is much worse than I had expected," King said, after reading the report of the analysis. "I can only say that we will now redouble our efforts. Nothing will be spared to find a solution of this most baffling mystery."

Long's analytical report disclosed:

STREET CAR MEN IN DAYTON LEAVE JOBS

DAYTON, O.—(By United Press)—Thirty-three platform men of the Dayton Street Car Co. went on strike this morning and indications are that approximately 20 others employed by the Traction Railway Co. will walk out the first of the week.

The Dayton street car strike took all but three union and four non-union operators from their jobs. Service was continued through employment of 33 new men, most of whom lost their jobs in 1921 when unions of two other local car lines were broken during a strike which lasted for several weeks.

The workers are demanding recognition of their union and an increase from 55 cents to 75 cents an hour in wages.

Every Modern Equipment in Automobiles is Standard Equipment on the 1925 MOON MODELS

BALLOON TIRES—the big, soft, low-pressure tires—not a semi-balloon or over-sized conventional tire adopted by some automobile manufacturers to dispose of the large, obsolete wheels.

FOUR-WHEEL HYDRAULIC BRAKES—superior to any other system of quadruple braking. Simple—self-equalizing—positive action with slight foot pressure. No moving parts to work loose and rattle. No adjustment and practically no lubrication required.

IMPROVED STEERING MECHANISM—old-style steering gears won't suit 1925 requirements. Balloon tire equipment demands a more efficient steering mechanism. MOON has it. And driving and parking the 1925 MOON cars are delightfully easy.

CONTINENTAL MOTOR—six-cylinder power plant with four-bearing crankshaft and force-feed lubrication. Built exclusively for the 1925 MOON by the world's largest exclusive motor builders. COOKING SCHOOL CONCLUDED
Successful Event Brought to Close on Friday
ATTENDANCE GRATIFYING
Many Features Added to Enjoyment of Visitors

An exceptionally interested audience attended the final class of the Lima News Cooking School at Memorial hall Friday afternoon. The final course, as had been predicted by Miss May Neville, expert in charge, was undoubtedly the most important.

Robert Bruce, native Montana Indian and a cornet player, opened the program with a few solos, accompanied by Harry Kleinberger, of 801 Brice-av.

Miss Neville opened her lecture-demonstration program Friday with the arranging of parties of every kind and description. She followed with the service of party dishes and the service for the wedding breakfast.

DEMONSTRATION
Although a large cooking demonstration was not slated for the closing program, Miss Neville cooked and baked numerous foodstuffs which had to do with the program, and which at the same time she had not demonstrated in any of the preceding classes.

As usual, the results of her mixtures and cooking were consumed with evident relish by the hundreds present at the school closing.

The concluding feature, and probably the most interesting one, was a lecture by Miss Neville on "What You and Your Baby Should Weigh."

As the title suggests, it was a talk for the mother, and it carried with it a world of information and excellent advice on what the mother should eat at certain periods and what the baby should weigh when healthiest, and what both should eat after the advent of the child into the world.

Although the closing session was scheduled to end at 4 p. m., it was after that time when the doors of Memorial hall closed on the scene of the last cooking school class this year.

CONTRACTOR IS ARRESTED
Embezzlement of $900 Charged by Discount Co.

William D. Fox, 19, proprietor of the Fox Electrical Co., of 108 E. Spring-st., was arrested Friday evening and jailed by police on a charge of embezzlement. It is alleged he forged notes totaling $900 on the Domestic Discount Co. At arraignment in Justice Botkin's court Saturday, he entered a plea of not guilty, and was bound over to the grand jury under $500 bond.

Fox was formerly an electrical contractor, but was disfranchised six weeks ago by Electrical Inspector Fred Newell, on the ground that he was doing unsatisfactory work.

Tom Schoonover, of the discount company, alleges that Fox became hard up for funds and sold several notes to the company, which bore signatures of fictitious customers of his.

For was in the habit of making regular payments on the notes, supposedly after collecting the money regularly from his purported customers, Schoonover said.

Only a small slip in a well-laid plan enabled the company to learn of Fox's plan, according to officials. The slip occurred when Fox neglected to make a regular payment on time, and one of the supposed note-signers received a "first notice" that payment was due.

He called at the office of the discount company and denied having an account with them. Investigation of Fox's business then disclosed that his alleged debtors were all fictitious personages, and he was placed under arrest.

Y. W. FUND DRIVE
Final Report Scheduled for Saturday Afternoon

Final reports on the Y. W. C. A. budget drive will not be heard until Saturday afternoon when a tea for all the team workers will be held at the Y rooms. Mrs. Kent Hughes will preside, assisted by Mrs. A. L. White, Mrs. E. M. Gooding, Mrs. Clinton Sealls and Mrs. Frank Kommink.

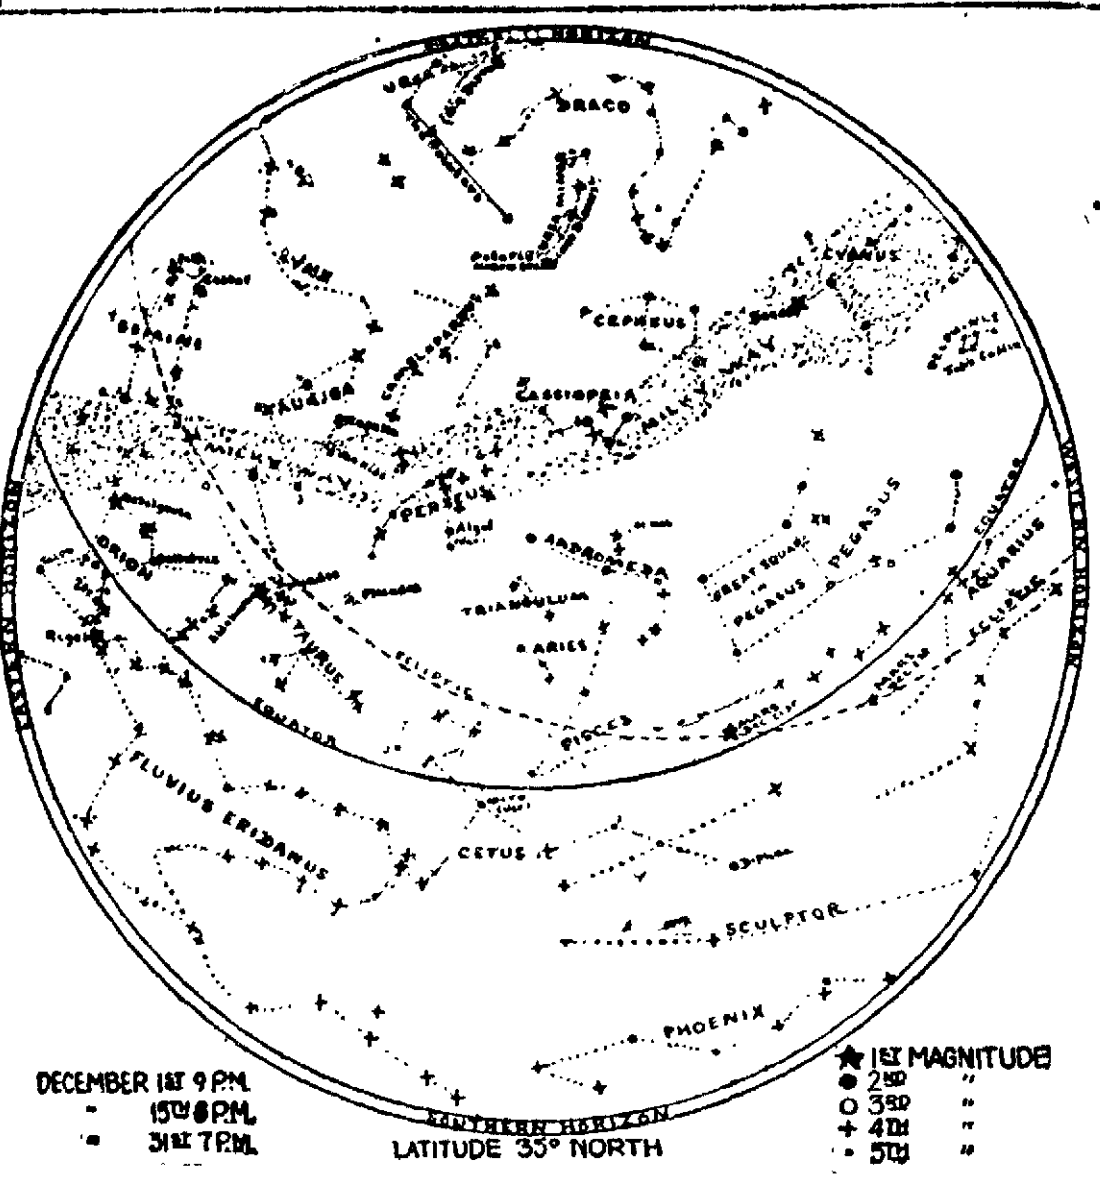

After reports have been heard, Mrs. Nancy Schoonmaker, well known Ohio lecturer, will talk on "Women's Work." Following this, comments on the work done this week will be made and the meeting adjourned.

No definite figures were arrived at Saturday morning but it is thought that they are still lacking several thousand of their $15,000 goal.

THE STAR MAP FOR DECEMBER

This map shows the heavens as they appear at 9 p. m. Dec. 1, 8 p. m., Dec. 15, and 7 p. m., Dec. 31, to an observer in 35 degrees north latitude, that is, a change of 5 degrees or so in latitude will make little difference in the appearance of the heavens. The map should be held inverted overhead with top toward the north.

It will be noted that the magnificent constellation of Orion is now well above the eastern horizon. To the northeast of Orion, appearing Gemini, the Twins, containing the bright stars, Castor and Pollux which, there is reason to believe, have changed in relative brightness within historic times.

The planet Mars, of which so much has been heard this year, will be found to the south of the Great Square in Pegasus. It is now moving rapidly eastward through the constellation of Pisces. The Fishes, and is receding from the earth and decreasing in brightness.

It can easily be distinguished by its brilliant reddish color. It is by far the brightest object in the southwestern part of the sky. No other planet is now in view at the time for which the map is given.

The first note read: "Dear Don: 'Forgive me for what I have done, but my head, oh, believe I am insane. Please, oh please, let mama have my little Grace and be good to her. Tell mama not to worry. I couldn't help myself. Maybe it is for the best. Please dress me all in white, the money in the drawer give to mama for my baby some clothes. Good bye, be good to my baby and be good to yourself. Kiss my baby for me and tell her to be a good girl like her grandmama and Aunt Lucille."

"Good bye Don, and may God forgive me."

The second note read: "Dear Don: Oh, forgive me, my Donnie and Nellie May are dead and I am alone now. Tell mama and papa to be good to my baby and you be good too."

"Good bye, God forgive me, kiss my baby for me."

The third note was addressed to the baby, Grace.

After the two children had been hung to the rafters, the bodies were found by the father at 1:15 p. m. on his return home from a hunting trip.

charges as court witnesses of a wild ride in the course of which all three men narrowly escaped death in front of a fast train.

Police claim that Wierman, driver and owner of the car, was speeding in N. Main-st while intoxicated, and failed to note that the gates at the Pennsylvania crossing blocked traffic until he crashed thru the gates. A few seconds later the fast train thundered past.

After the accident, the men took the automobile to the Oakland garage, E. Market-st, for repairs, and all three were nabbed in the garage building by Police Sergeant Edwards who investigated a report of the accident and followed the men by questioning pedestrians who had noted the course taken by the auto after the crash.

Reports from City hospital at noon Saturday indicated that Mrs. Overette will recover from her injuries. An X-ray will be taken Saturday afternoon, when it will be determined whether or not she is suffering from internal injuries. If not, her speedy recovery is assured, attaches of the institution report.

"Lightnin'"
It's the same delightful play. Although the writer saw "Lightnin'" for the second time Friday night at the Fulton Opera house, it had the same fascinating, same heart touching incidents and the same mirth provoking situations as the first time.

It is a play that one would never become tired of, especially with Thomas Jefferson in the role of the shifless, drinking, lying, but lovable "Lightnin'" Bill Jones. The playing of the part by Jefferson was not acting, it was life. Jefferson WAS Bill Jones. Other members of the company proved to be very capable. John Burton played the part of his nameless in pleasing fashion and Bosse Bacon as the vamping dancer provoked many laughs. Barney Gilmore, the judge, repeated his former success here. Every member was well cast and the stage settings were appropriate.

"Lightnin'" is a play that should be seen by every person, young or old. It will be offered Saturday afternoon and evening only.

Mrs. William Law Ayres, 1015 W. Waynes-st., was hostess to the members of the B. B. O. O. club at her home Friday evening. The members are studying a literature course during this winter's club season. Mrs. W. Houser, Niagara Falls, a charter member and Mrs. T. J. Hoffman were guests. At a later hour refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Hoffman.

In two weeks the club will meet with Mrs. A. Skinner, S. Pierce-st.

Miss Elizabeth Newson, Tiffin, returned to her home Saturday after spending several days with Miss Edith Simpson, State-st.

Miss Abigail Sullivan, S. Jameson-av., will return to her home Sunday, after visiting in Columbus with friends.

Mrs. D. J. Cable, Mrs. C. B. Beattie and Mrs. Eugene Lippincott were guests of Mrs. J. D. S. Neely, S. Cole-st, Friday, when she entertained members of the N. W. club with luncheon at her home. The afternoon was occupied with needle work.

Mrs. F. R. Siglin, 824 Richman-entertained members of the Philadelphia class of the Central Church of Christ with an all day meeting at her home Friday. A covered dish luncheon was enjoyed at 1 o'clock and following the afternoon was spent socially.

Miss Gertrude Gillham and Miss Kathleen Hanley are in Marion attending the Women's Newspaper convention.

2 FAIL TO STOP, POLICE SAY
Julius Wise and Rev. Warren Steeves to Face Court

Julius Wise, of 230 S. Cole-st, prominent financier and an official of the Lima Stone Co., and Rev. Warren L. Steeves, of 1027 Fair-av, pastor of the First Baptist church, were stopped and accompanied to police headquarters Saturday morning by Police Officer James Ramsey, and were ordered to appear in criminal court Monday in answer to charges of "failing to stop."

Steeves, Ramsey avers, failed to stop his auto at North and Elizabeth-st, and Wise passed by another busy corner without heeding the sign.

"Ramsey is entirely too solicitous as to his duty," Steeves told Chief H. A. Lanker. "I slowed down, but failed to bring my car to a 'dead stop' and was brought in."

"Ramsey never makes an arrest unless there is a clear violation of the law," Chief Lanker said. "These are the first arrests for several weeks."

Longworth predicted that all necessary legislation could be accomplished at this session without the necessity of an extra session after March 4, but he has not outlined any specific legislative program. While opposing the public election of income tax returns, which he said was not the intent of the law, he doubted the wisdom of reopening this question at this session with the same membership that enacted the new law.

Alto he said he had been approached by his state delegation and by members of a majority of the other delegations asking that he be a candidate for speaker in the next congress to be elected.

Speaker Gillett, Longworth has not normally announced his candidacy. Representative Madden of Illinois, is a candidate for the place.

MRS. SARAH GREEN DIES; FUNERAL HELD SATURDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Sarah Green, 64, of 801 E. High-st, who died Thursday evening, will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Second Baptist church. Rev. T. D. Hatcher will officiate.

Mrs. Green is survived by her husband, John, and two daughters, Mrs. Elsie Collins of San Francisco, Elsie Busch, of Lima; three sons, Elsie Green, of Michigan, and F. G. and Henry Green, of Mansfield. Two brothers are also left.

AUTO VICTIM DIES

NORFOLK, Va.—Falling again to sink the Battleship Washington off Cape Henry, Friday, the Battleship Texas has silenced her mighty 14-inch guns and bombing planes will try to finish the task of disposing of the ship doomed by the arms conference.

Firing constantly for an hour the tons of shells fired by the Texas failed to send the Washington to the bottom and the only visible evidence of the work of the big 14-inch guns was big dents in her armor plate and several impressions made near the waterline of the dreadnaught.

The projectiles in some instances tore away huge splinters of the Washington's armor plate, causing a loss of 15 degrees.

Radio messages were sent last night ordering big Martin bombers to take up the job and it is expected that 11 planes will take part in the destruction.

4. No trace of soot or ashes which might have been breathed into the lungs.

"I am positively positive of the absence of carbon-monoxide in the blood," Long declared. "I obtained three ounces and submitted it to five different tests. In all of them the blood was shown to be positively normal."

PIGEONS INSURED EASY DAYS

Home for War Carriers Is Established

THREE HONOR MEMBERS

Considered Heroes No Less Than Soldiers

LOS ANGELES—(By Associated Press)—A home for United States army carrier pigeons, veterans of the World War, has been established here at the army pigeon loft at Ross Field, Arcadia. Included among the 200 birds at the home, all of which saw service overseas, are three honor birds, so distinguished because of their exceptional performances in action. Two of these, "President Wilson" and "The Mocker," carry scars of battle. "President Wilson" sacrificed a leg and "The Mocker" an eye in the fight for victory.

STANDS TRIP WELL

The third hero at the home, "Spoke," appears none the worse for his war-time experiences. His claim to fame lies in his record of having carried 51 messages of importance without being injured.

Ray R. Delhauer, pigeon expert in charge of the army lofts, considers these birds heroes no less than the former soldiers.

"President Wilson," a slate-colored homer of great vitality and rapidity of flight, was first used in the tank corps. His work was so well done that he was transferred to the Meuse-Argonne sector and stationed at Cobry. About 5 o'clock one rainy morning he returned from his second flight in this sector with his leg shot off. He had brought important messages at a speed of almost a mile a minute.

EYE DESTROYED

On the morning of Sept. 12, 1918, "The Mocker" arrived at his station with one eye destroyed and his head a welter of blood. The message tube he carried contained information of great importance and gave the locations of several heavy artillery batteries which the Germans had been using effectively on the American troops. The American artillerymen had every enemy gun in that sector silenced within 20 minutes after "The Mocker" arrived. Thus "The Mocker" was credited with saving American lives.

There also are a few German carrier pigeons at the home. They were captured from the enemy. Mr. Delhauer says these birds will be used for breeding and development, as they have proved superior to other varieties.

COOLIDGE KEEPS HANDS OFF

President to Let Party Choose Floor Leader

WASHINGTON—Regarding party organization in congress as a matter for the members themselves to determine, President Coolidge has made it clear that he intends to make no effort to influence the selection of a Republican floor leader in the senate or a new speaker in the house.

Whatever the Republican senators decide at their organization conference next Friday will be satisfactory to him. Mr. Coolidge is officially on the sidelines. The choice for leadership in succession to the late Senator Lodge appears to lie between Senator Warren of Wyoming, the senior Republican member of the chamber, and Senator Curtis of Kansas, the party whip, who relieved Senator Lodge of many of the duties during the last session, with Senators Woodworth of New York and Watson of Indiana, also being mentioned for the post.

The speakership of the house, which will become vacant when Representative Gillett of Massachusetts moves into the senate after March 4, is looked upon by Mr. Coolidge as he is concerned, as a matter of party leadership in the senate. Republican leaders of Ohio, are the members most frequently mentioned at present to succeed Speaker Gillett.

DESTROY TEA TASTE

LOCHDON, N. C.—Woman who smokes cigarettes can hope to become a professional tea-taster, according to Miss Margaret Irving, the only woman among London's tea-drinkers who has qualified as a tea expert. She has taken her place alongside men who get thousands of pounds a year for grading and judging the leaves which enter into England's favorite beverage.

Women tea-tasters must also possess perfume and perfumed soap and talcum powders. The nose and palate cooperate in deciding upon the flavor of tea, and must be kept free of all influences which might affect their functioning.

There is no other addition to the nose and palate as each grows in value. Daily & Dorsey, Main 1756.

IN NO MAN'S SEA

A PICTURE OF THE BLACK HORROR IN WHICH THE LIEV EIRIKSSON MEETS A POWERFUL FOE

MAP OF THE COURSE TAKEN BY THE TRENTON, WITH CROSS SHOWING PROBABLE LOCATION OF THE LIEV EIRIKSSON WHEN LOST EARLY IN SEPTEMBER. UPPER RIGHT, THE STORMY SEA ASTERN FROM THE TRENTON'S CROW'S-NEST; UPPER LEFT, A LOOKOUT SCANNING THE HORIZON FOR THE LOST BOAT; CIRCLE INSET, ACKERMAN, NEA SERVICE PHOTOGRAPHER, IN ARCTIC HOOD WORN ON TRIP.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: M. J. Ackerman, of NEA Service, and Lima News was the only photographer to accompany the expedition of the cruiser Trenton in its vain attempt to find the Liev Eiriksson and his crew. Here is an exclusive story of the great handicaps faced by the occupants of the lost sail boat.)

BY M. J. ACKERMAN

NEW YORK — (Special) — Picture a tossing infinity of frigid black water beneath a sombre sky-dome filled with snow, sleet, rain and moaning wind gusts.

This is the North Atlantic in November, where the 42-foot Liev Eiriksson is lost.

Into this overpowering, fearsome, fascinating scene, I went on the cruiser Trenton on its 11-day search for the little sailboat and its crew of adventurers.

To the experienced officers and men of the Trenton the trip was simply an item in their job, a cruise into whatever the storm gods might send, an occasion for using their seamanship and clearness of sight.

But to this landlubber it was a succession of hairbreadth escapes, providential rescues, wild adventures. And to have found the Liev Eiriksson would have appeared a miracle.

The Trenton sailed from New York toward the banks of Newfoundland, took up the search there into the middle of the ocean, circled southward to check up the report of a derelict, crossed the warm blue river of the Gulf Stream and returned empty-handed.

The Liev Eiriksson, bearing W. W. Nutting and his party, had sailed from Greenland early in September, headed for Labrador on the last leg of their voyage across the Atlantic. If they had been lost or disabled, the natural drift of the currents in that region would have carried them in a southeasterly course. Their rate would have been about 11 miles a day. Our course, therefore, was a double intersection of the track their boat might have been expected to follow.

Except for about three days of our trip we were continuously buffeted by storms.

By the time we reached Fire Island, four hours out from New York, the Trenton was being hammered. She was built for speed, a sort of magnified destroyer, about 550 feet long with only 55 feet beam.

Down those mountainous slopes of the deep raced our ship to bury her nose in the face of the steep upsurge of water at the foot. Or a tremendous surge would catch us and smash us on its peak, the stern with its four propellers kicking out into air, the ship throbbing and straining but always driving forward and up-right. Or the choppy billows would bombard us from all directions, hitting us when down, up the report of a derelict, crossed the warm blue river of the Gulf Stream and returned empty-handed.

And at the depth of some such experience, with the deck slanting at a 45-degree angle, some humorous sailor would grunt to the landlubber:

"I hope she comes back."

Worst of all was a hurricane from Cuba which broke at night as we neared the end. Yet we missed the full force of it, for Captain Kalbfus had heeded warnings and altered his course out of its direct sweep.

How a small boat could live in such an ocean seems incomprehensible.

A continuous lookout was kept from the crow's-nest and another from the bridge. Every toss and heave of the ship was magnified for the men at the top of the mast. One man toward the end of his watch got to "seeing derelicts" as a sort of mirage, but the work was carried on without interruption. At night searchlights reached out their fingers of light for the phantom, Liev Eiriksson. With glasses from the masthead, our lookouts could cover 15 miles of sea in every direction.

If the Liev Eiriksson had been in our part of the ocean, the Trenton would have found it, but the ocean was too strong, too big.

ERROR RESULTS IN VALUABLE SCHOLARSHIPS

LONDON — As a result of an error on the part of Britain's food ministry during the war, a gift of $150,000 to found scholarships in certain agricultural colleges is contemplated by a number of dairy companies which benefited by the mistake.

In 1919 someone in the ministry erroneously imposed a levy of two pence a gallon on all milk transported from the southwestern counties to other parts of England, and following legal action by the dairies the money has been refused. It is now proposed to form a trust fund and devote the income to scholarships for the benefit of sons of milk producers in the counties concerned.

LIGHTHOUSE FUNERAL

ROME — Funeral services for Adam Galici, keeper of the light, were held in his lighthouse. The coffin with Galici's body was lowered by chains from the top of the lighthouse, and the pallbearers were dropped alongside the coffin by ropes. The funeral cortege consisted of a line of eight motorbuses.

BERLIN DECIDES BUSSES WILL HELP IN TRANSIT

BERLIN — Confronted with increasing street traffic, Berlin has decided to operate automobile busses. During 1925, 569 busses, running on 14 different lines, will be installed. The new cars will seat 34 persons each, and will have upper decks.

Manager Kaufman, of the Berlin Autobus Company, who recently went to the United States to study city transportation conditions, believes the bus is the vehicle of the future for congested metropolitan districts. He says that the Berlin busses use more powerful motors that are customary in America, which makes possible a quicker start, and that the local custom of stopping only at designated streets results in a speedy service.

PEKIN — The new government of northern China was organized today to meet the threat of further civil war and opposition from Wu Pei Fu's provincial government in the Yang Tze provinces. Tuan Chi Jui arrived on a special train and prepared to take over different equivalent to the premiership. Chang Tso Lin and the Christian general, Feng Yu Hsiang, followed a few hours later on separate trains.

High officials welcomed Tuan without military display, according to his request.

SALOON LEAGUE HEAD MAY BE REARRESTED

NEW YORK — William H. Anderson, former state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, may be at liberty to eat his Christmas dinner outside prison walls it was indicated at District Attorney Banton's office today, despite the announcement last night that Anderson would be rearrested as soon as released from Sing Sing prison on parole December 24.

The district attorney declined to say on which of four untried indictments Anderson would be rearrested but prosecuting officials declared that Anderson would be released on bail on his own recognizance soon after being brought to New York from Ossining.

The indictments charge extortion of sums ranging from $1,500 to $15,000 from the league, and a league official.

CINCINNATI — An Ohio State Social Hygiene Society, similar to that of the national social hygiene organization will be the direct outgrowth of the national conference here. E. F. Vanbuskirk, executive secretary of the Cincinnati Social Hygiene society, predicted today before the national body. He asserted that a new spirit along these lines had been engendered in discussions at the conference.

Small discussion meetings for parents to be held in their own homes at which Hygiene conditions can be thoroughly discussed was presented by Mr. Vanbuskirk as a laudable idea. He also urged a greater effort be made to present hygiene information to students in high schools and also in elementary schools.

ENGLISH OPPOSE PROHIBITION

Member of New Britain Regime Sounds Keynote

LONDON — (By Associated Press)—Prohibition of the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors will not promote temperance, and social problems are not solved by drastic measures which "destroy the freedom and real temperance of the majority and the people." This was the declaration of L. Col. L. O. Amery, new secretary for the colonies, in a speech at Birmingham yesterday, outlining the attitude of the Conservative administration toward certain licensing problems.

The government and the Conservative party of Great Britain, he said, are not in favor of prohibition and they are convinced in their attitude by the experience of the United States.

During the life of the present government, he continued, the question of the very heavy burdens of taxation which the licensing trade had to administer would call for the most serious consideration of the chancellor of the exchequer. The government felt that they could not deal with social problems in a crude and rudimentary fashion, which some people advocated by sweeping the trade away altogether, or thru harassing the members of the trade.

The experience of the United States had shown them that even if they could rise to the pitch of a national decree abolishing the production of alcoholic liquors, they did not promote real temperance or approach any nearer to the solution of their problems. The colonial secretary asserted that the real solution of the temperance question lay in the school and home training, in self-restraint, and in the members of the liquor trade improving the social standing of their houses.

STRAW HAT TRADE SHOWS 13.7 JUMP

WASHINGTON—Sol, the silent partner of all straw hat manufacturers, proved his worth during the last two years by increasing the returns from the hat weather headgear 13.7 per cent over the preceding biennial period.

The department of commerce announced today that straw hat production exclusive of trimmed hats for women and children was valued at $22,574,797 for the two-year period ending 1921. This figure, it was added, does not include figures for establishments producing straw hats and secondary products nor statistics on trimmed hats for women and children. Despite the production increases however, the report showed a decline in the number of establishments manufacturing straw hats from 116 in 1921 to 96 in 1922, of which 42 were in New York state, 16 in Massachusetts and eight in Missouri.

RECIPES FOR FRIDAY, NOV. 21, 1921

BRIDE'S CAKE

Method—Cream Crisco, add sugar and cream again; add flavorings. 1/2 water; 1/4 flour and beat for 6 minutes. Add second 1/2 water and flour and beat for 6 minutes. Add last 1/2 water and remainder of flour, sifted with baking powder and salt. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in moderate oven (325 degrees) 2 hours if in a large loaf; 1 hour if two layers are made.

BOILED RING

Method—Boil sugar, water and syrup until the mixture forms a permanent thread. Beat egg whites stiff; gradually add the syrup, a tablespoonful at a time, beating constantly. Add vanilla.

ICE BOX PUDDING

Method—Combine ingredients in order given. Line mold with lady fingers or sponge cake, or arrange in alternate layers with sponge cake. Hold in refrigerator for 12 hours at least. Serve with unsweetened whipped cream.

SALADS

Spaghetti and Chicken Salad Supreme

Method—Cook the spaghetti until tender and drain. Set aside to cool. Shortly before serving add remaining ingredients and mix lightly. Place individual portion on lettuce leaves, topping it with Wright's Mayonnaise, garnished with minced olives.

ANGEL PARFAIT

Method—Boil sugar and water without stirring till it spins a thread. Remove it from the stove, add slowly to the stiffly beaten egg white, and continue to beat till thick. Add the vanilla and a few grains of salt and combine with the cream (which has been beaten till solid). Turn into the Frigidaire pan and allow to freeze without stirring, for at least 1 1/2 hours, though it may stand over night with perfectly satisfactory results. This may be served with canned apricots, maraschino cherries or fresh strawberries, and is a very easily prepared dessert.

PINEAPPLE CAKE

Method—Cream Crisco—add sugar gradually. Sift all dry ingredients and add alternately with milk to creamed mixture. Add flavorings and egg yolks beaten light. Bake in layer for about 25 minutes in a 350-degree oven.

PINEAPPLE FILLING

Method—Heat pineapple juice with half the sugar in a double boiler. Mix cornstarch with a little cold water and add to fruit juice. Cook ten minutes, add egg and rest of sugar. When thick add Crisco and salt.

STUDENT BODIES INCREASE

Methodist Schools Show 96 Per Cent Growth

CHICAGO — (By Associated Press)—A total of 57,471 students are registered this fall in the 41 colleges and universities sponsored by the board of education of the Methodist Episcopal Church, according to reports just completed. This is an increase of about 96 per cent in the enrollment for this group of schools since 1920. The total for that year was 29,250.

The largest enrollment increase reported was 50 per cent at Union College, Barbourville, Ky. Next in order were Evansville College, Evansville, Ind., 35 per cent; Gooding College, Gooding, Idaho, 33 per cent; McKendree College, Lebanon, Ill., 32 per cent; Iowa Wesleyan College, Mt. ## A. F. L. AGAINST CHILD LABOR

Convention Urges Adoption of Proposed Amendment

CONVENTION URGES ADOPTION OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—(By Associated Press)—A short morning session, ending the first week of its biennial convention of the American Federation of Labor today, a three-day gathering of 100 delegates and committee reports on some of its resolutions.

The convention last night approved the report of the committee on education calling for an international day of children to obtain participation of the child labor movement in the labor movement.

The American Federation of Labor will hold its annual convention in its own hall, but has not yet decided on the location of its headquarters for the protection of children's rights.

Members for carrying on the campaign will enter in some 125,000 and 100 affiliated bodies. A statement on the report said.

Other recommendations of the committee on education include support of the Sterling-Rood bill to establish a federal department of education, and advocacy of increased federal appropriations for education.

Endorsement of the American Legion campaign for a $500,000,000 endowment fund for rehabilitation, child welfare and kindred subjects was given in a resolution stating that the fund should be used to provide moral and financial support to the enterprise. Activities to popularize the union label and to expand and extend the service of the labor press were authorized.

Transportation Vs. Politics

The Association of Railway Executives has taken a reasonable stand on the subject of legislation affecting transportation, says the Cincinnati Enquirer. It insists that if any is attempted it should be considered from an economic and not a political standpoint. There has been too much politics applied to the handling of transportation affairs. Politicians have made railroad baiting a business because they imagined it to be popular. They have carried the game to such an extent that the railroads have been crippled by various kinds of discrimination and transportation facilities have been lessened and their benefits to shippers abridged when they should have been extended to take care of the constantly increasing volume of traffic.

It was proper for Congress to place the supervision of rates in the hands of a governing body. It is not the province or the business of Congress itself to make rates. This would be one effect of such legislation as is proposed by the Gooding bill by which it is sought to have Congress make certain specific and mandatory directions in regard to transcontinental freight rates touching Panama Canal competition. This is the latest fetish of the railroad-baiting politicians conjured out of complaints of certain shipping interests against a proposal of the railroads that would encourage transcontinental movements of freight over their lines in competition with the canal.

Nothing should be permitted that would destroy canal traffic. At the same time it should be kept in mind that the railroads are public utilities just as the canal is a public utility. Legitimate competition, even against it, is not dangerous to the general welfare of shippers so long as the commission judiciously and fairly applies its authority. It is the general welfare of shippers that is to be aimed at and not the advantage of a special group of shippers.

To improve their earnings the railroads, as agencies of transportation, are as much entitled to make competitive rates as are the canal authorities. It is the business of the commission to see that neither is destructive of the other. It has authority to do so, without Congress enacting any more directing legislation with sectional and political appendages. There may be sections of the transportation act that require revision. If there are such sections their revision should be in line with economic requirements, not to satisfy sectional demands and political whims.

An era of unprecedented prosperity has dawned. Every agency that can contribute to that development needs to be encouraged, not abridged. Politics should be put aside, for a time at least, and economics placed at the front.

Deadly Weapon

A radio signal from Wales crossed the Atlantic and exploded a flashlight powder in New York.

The process was roundabout and required a receiving apparatus at this end. But it opens startling possibilities. Picture a future war with artificial lightning sent by radio against an enemy army. The decadents of science would be tickled to death to discover such a weapon.

Bootleg Booze

Before prohibition 25 million Americans were "regular drinkers," compared with only three millions now, claims Wayne Wheeler, lawyer for the Anti-Saloon league. He must be clairvoyant, for it is obviously impossible to estimate such figures with any approximation of accuracy.

The number of drinkers, however, doesn't count as much as the amount they drink and the quality of their firewater.

U. S. District Attorney David Hart estimates that Washington, D. C., has a bootlegger for every 90 residents.

The Sailless Ship

The exploits of Herr Flettner will shortly be plastered all over the front pages of American newspapers, provided his present plans do not fizzle.

Flettner is a German, now living in Holland, who has invented a windship or sailing ship without any sails. That sounds like World Vaudeville. But wait a minute.

This windship isn't a wild dream. It has been demonstrated so satisfactorily that it is the scientific sensation of Europe. Big steamship companies expect to use his invention on freighters, displacing coal. Instead of sails, Flettner uses huge cylinders shaped like smokestacks. These revolve and, in some magical way not disclosed, harness the terrific power of air currents. Berlin will erect similar cylinders to generate electricity for lighting streets and so on.

The possibilities of such an invention are almost beyond the imagination. Industry and transportation would be revolutionized, wind furnishing the power now obtained from coal.

It seems too good to be true. And possibly it is. But Flettner's invention has the marks of authenticity, both in its demonstrations to date and in the big corporations that have interested themselves in it.

Stupendous power is going to waste in the air. The force that blows your hat off, uproots trees and turns the windmill could, properly harnessed, relieve man of a large part of his labor. Our generation has neglected the power of the winds, which for many centuries were enlisted to carry man's commerce on the seas.

A man in Cleveland rigged up weather-vanes that generated sufficient electricity, to light his home. This is a faint shadow of what could be done on a gigantic scale.

The power of the tides also awaits harnessing. So does the fierce heat of the sun. We have barely begun to use the power that nature has placed all about us.

But winds and tides and sun's heat will become our slaves in time—no doubt, long before scientists discover how to release the energy stored in the atom or finish drilling a hole deep into the earth to tap the interior heat.

Gamblers

Wall Street Journal describes Citroen, the big French auto manufacturer, plunging at the card tables of the Deauville Casino: "He played with chips rose-colored and with 100,000 francs neatly engraved on each. The roses that would only rise to his cheeks when stakes were well over 1,000,000 francs. Opposite him sat Zagroffos, the young Greek shipbuilder, who in less than an hour and a half won 5,000,000 francs from Citroen. The young Greek was obviously bored, and complained of the gripe."

Your mind jumps back to impoverished Europe. The contrast is ghastly, monstrous.

Prices Up

Prices are rising again, all over the world. In England the average of wholesale prices is 12 per cent higher than a year ago. So in various countries. It means higher cost of living for the world's people. But it also means increased incomes for them—and easier payment of war debts.

Low cost of living and prosperity have been divorced.

HELPED HER IN EVERY WAY

So Writes Mrs. Trombley of Sharon, Vt., Concerning Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sharon, Vermont.—"I was weak and run-down, had a tired feeling and bearing-down pains. I saw an advertisement in the newspaper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and began taking it. It has stopped these bearing-down pains and other bad feelings, and has helped me in every way. I have so much faith in the Vegetable Compound that I keep it on hand all the time and recommend it whenever I have the opportunity."—Mrs. Lewis Trombley, Sharon, Vermont.

Glad to Help Others
"I had pains in my back and sides for many months, and my work would have to be left undone at those times. My sister told me what good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was doing her, so I tried it, and from the third bottle I was well and every one thought I looked better. I am glad to help others regain their health, and you may use my testimonial."—MABEL HARTMAN, 1824 Greene Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y. ## Chicago Manager Goes On War Path When Decision Is Given Against Johnny Dundee

NICHE IN HALL OF FAME GOAL OF NOTED STARS

COLUMBUS—(By Associated Press)—Scores of gridiron players today will make their final bid to secure for themselves a place in the Ohio conference football hall of fame, as the 1924 season outside of a few traditional Thanksgiving contests, ends today.

With the nine weeks of the exacting life of the gridiron warrior practically over, the many eleven rested in their camps this morning eager to throw strategy, brawn and fair play at their opponents in an endeavor to win their 1924 finale.

Meanwhile the thousands and thousands of non-participants of the game, the spectators, fondly but somewhat wistfully sought the trusty blanket that had made the journey some six or seven other times to the stadiums this fall and prepared himself once more to journey to the gridiron field there again to renew football lore that must last him until the autumn of another year.

Premier among today's attractions in the state is the Ohio Wesleyan-Ohio University game at Delaware. Upon its outcome rests the former's right to lay joint claim to the conference football championship for the third consecutive time. Oberlin, her season completed, rests at the top with eight consecutive victories.

Another banner contest will occur at Granville where Wooster and Denison rest before their annual clash. The Case-Western Reserve game has had Cleveland across all week and will settle the city's collegiate championship. Most of these eleven have depended strongly upon the aerial game for victories but with heavy rains late this week and in some places early today a number of them will be forced to switch to line attacks. Just what effect this change from their favorite attack will have on the teams will be watched with interest by Buckeye followers of the gridiron men.

Maria (ta), completing her unsuccessful season has selected the powerful Penn State machine for opposition and probably again will be mowed down by a huge wire. Penn State last week held the University of Pennsylvania, the only victory undetested and undisturbed in the east, to a score of 14-0.

Rehearsals, games in the conference and Baldwin-Wallace at Kenyon, Miami at Heidelberg and Oberlin at St. Xavier. Non-conference appearances will witness John Carroll at Dayton, Findlay at Capital, Toledo at Akron and Delaware at Bluffton.

OHIO STATE-ILLINOIS

Ohio State and Illinois, traditionally bitter football foes, will clash before an expected throng of 40,000 here today in the wind-up of their Western Conference games for this season.

The Illinois will start without the services of "Red" Grange, according to probable lineups, Ohio State which has been a team of ripples most of the season, will enter the game with most of its regulars in line. Karow is hoped to start, as is Schulist, Cunningham and Young.

It is always said that the result of an Ohio State-Illinois football game can never be forecast from advance information, that in spite of previous showings of each team, whether good or bad, the fray is always a nip and tuck affair until the final whistle blows.

All indications are that today's game will live up to that forecast. Ohio State, which has demonstrated little scoring ability this season, nevertheless is confident in going up against the team that marked up touchdowns against Michigan with clock-like regularity. The probable lineups are:

Ohio State	Position	Illinois
Uppmham	LT	Moore
Schulist	LT	Rokusek (C)
Karow	LT	Miller
Young	LT	Robert
Young	LT	Robert
Young	LT	Robert
Young	LT	Robert
Young	LT	Robert
Young	LT	Robert
Young	LT	Robert

IN THE MIND'S EYE OF THE SPORT EDITOR

Everything points to the fact that John Heydler will be re-elected president of the National league at the coming meeting of the older organization. There are a majority of the clubs strongly in favor of Heydler. Throughout his incumbency he has proven to be the right man in the right place.

It is a big job and requires a big man to fill it satisfactorily. Heydler in his younger days was a ball player; the fundamentals of the game are strongly installed in him; he knows what is best for the players as well as the public; being fair and impartial in all his rulings, aided by a comprehensive knowledge of the game as well as being a wise and sagacious counselor, it would be hard to find anyone else so well fitted for the position.

There have been some big men during the history of the National league holding the office. The first president was Hon. Morgan G. Bulkeley of Hartford, Conn., who was also governor of that state at one time. He served only one year, then the "Father of Baseball," William A. Hulbert, was elected. He served a long time, beginning in 1877, and was so successful in the office that he served altogether five terms.

But the president to hold office the longest was "Nick" Young. He was elected in 1885 to succeed A. C. Mills of New York. He held the office continuously for a period of 18 years—from 1885 to 1902. He had plenty to do, for strange as it may seem the old organization has continuously been beset with many trials. It was the staunch hearts and fighting spirit for honesty against corruption and crookedness that pointed the way to endurance, and why the league has lived and prospered. It is proven many times that the heads of the National league have fought for right and honesty against a sea of dishonesty.

And the National league was not always prosperous. There have been times in its history when its future was in the balance. Disastrous seasons and adverse financial troubles have beset it several times; times that tried stout hearts and game sports. But league history is a good example to look back to as a lesson in persistence and determination and what may be accomplished if only men will stick to their courage to the sticking place.

ELIMINATION BOUT ENDS IN ROUGH HOUSE

NEW YORK—(United Press)—Dick Curley, Chicago boxing manager, might be said to have suffered the severest blow delivered during the first of the Madison Square Garden elimination contests, held here last night to decide upon a successor to the championship title vacated by Johnny Dundee, featherweight.

Curley's license was revoked by the New York Boxing commission and he was barred from New York rings for life as a result of a disturbance he created. He was in the corner with Mike Dundee, Rock Island featherweight, one of the six boxers who appeared in the first of the elimination rounds.

When the decision of the judges was announced against Dundee and in favor of Danny Kramer, a Philadelphia southerner, Curley kicked the water bucket into the press box, stormed across the ring and kicked at the face of Charles Matheson one of the judges, and then ran back to his corner and kicked Patsy Haley, the referee, in the eye. Haley had left the ring and was sitting in the press box awaiting the next bout.

SPECTATORS TAKE PART

Angered spectators swarmed to the ring and a riot was threatened but deputies of the Boxing commission led a charge of special cops who hurried Curley out of the building. Tex Rickard, promoter of the Garden was charging thru the crowd with his walking stick swinging over his head when friends pulled him back from an attack on the manager.

Members of the Boxing commission were at the ring and after an impromptu session announced Curley was barred from New York for life.

In the other bouts on the program, Kid Kaplan, Meriden, won a 10-round decision from Bobby Garcia, Army champion from Camp Holabird and Jose Lombardo, Panama, won a 10-round decision from Lew Paluso, Salt Lake City.

NEW YORK—Three featherweight boxers stand out today in the tournament held under the auspices of the New York state athletic commission. Louis "Kid" Kaplan of Meriden, Conn. won a 10-round decision from Bobby Garcia, Army champion from Camp Holabird and Jose Lombardo of Panama, who won a 10-round decision from Lew Paluso, Salt Lake City.

WHITE CLOUD WON

MANCHESTER, Eng.—White's cloud bank won the November handicap here today from a field of 17 horses. W. M. G. Singers' Dumbo finished second with J. Hill's Fiske Alarm third.

NOTRE DAME MAY GO

CINCINNATI—The possibility of Notre Dame's California meeting being held in the Pasadena football stadium on New Year's Day depends on the result of the game in Los Angeles today between Southern California and Idaho, according to Gwynn Wilson, graduate manager of athletics of the University of Southern California. If the Californians win decisively they will be selected by the committee in charge to meet Notre Dame, he said. Wilson is here to witness the Notre-Dame-Northern game.

Dodos Have Caging Team

The recently organized basketball team of the Dodo club, a fraternity composed of South High students and graduates, will hold its first practice Saturday night at the M. C. A.

The team which will try out for positions are Harry Brown, Lee Spies and Merle Finicle, forwards, Howard Hansen and Warren Smith, centers, Gerald Lincoln, Edison Beiderman and Clyde Cook, guards. Hansen, Smith, Brown and Cook all are former first team men at South.

No games have been scheduled as yet but one probably will be booked in the very near future.

ALL-AMERICANS NO. 1—FOOTBALL

Adenolis McNutt, who agreed with the experts that his alma mater had a terrible team and was downright lucky to lose but seven of its eight games.

Ida Clair, who admitted before going to the game that she knew nothing about football and then heroically refrained from asking why a touch down should count more than a touchback.

Rufus Ruffer, Quarterback of the 1903 Grid All-Americans, who sat thru three full quarters of the homecoming game this year without once criticizing a play.

Coach Grumble, who gave vent to the historic utterance, "How can you expect me to win with the low salaries they pay my boys?"

Professor Spinach, who confessed that stadiums were built to be filled by cash customers and not as monuments to institutions of learning.

Walter Scampous, who came right out and said that the eleven players he picked on the All-America were just nice boys who wore their dinner jackets beautifully but otherwise were not so hot.

Old Eagle Eye Pete, who turned over a 16-page report on how to beat the Swearing Generals and adds a postscript saying, "This business of scouting is all a lot of wetter schnitzel."

J. Percival Showoff, who, after wearing a new $185 raccoon coat, declined to go down the field between halves and take part in the snake dance.

Alexander Hardboiled, who told his wife he would not go to the game if he had to carry one of those silly looking pennants and who DID NOT GO!

Potsy McBiff, who successfully negotiated the purchase of a $30 ticket to the Army-Navy game from a ticket speculator for $63, paying for the same with a check, which had no more value than a snow shovel in Miami, Fla.

Col Ambrose Puffington, 36, who said he believed the referee was absolutely right when he called Puffington Jr back for running out of bounds at the three-yard line with what would have been the winning touchdown.

Dave Shade recently refused a purse of $12,500 to battle Mickey Walker, welterweight champion.

Kid Norfolk's real name is Willie Ward and he started boxing professionally in Baltimore.

Professional hockey players in Canada draw down bigger salaries than some major league baseballers.

Lindstrom's great work at third in the world series spells the passing of Heinie Groh, veteran star.

CHAMP THINKS STAGE LIFE RATHER TOUGH

NEW YORK (Special)—Yea, for the champ! Whether Jack Dempsey is loafing or acting in the films, or doing a vaudeville stunt, no one whether friend or stranger, ever forgets for a minute he is the premier wallop, the leading knockerout of the world. Every day he appears in his present theatrical engagement in the Metropolitan district this fact is prominent.

Jack knows this, knows that if he did not rank with chloroform and looney gas sleep producer par excellence he could not make 13 dollars per annum on the stage. This is the same as saying he has no illusions about his histrionic ability and less love for the thespian boards.

GE, this is a tough life! Dempsey grimaced at his visitor as he strode to his dressing room from the wings. Jack has a wide infectious grin which wrinkles up his gleaming dark eye and makes a brave show of perfect white teeth.

Wait a minute till I get this stuff off me and I'll be right out with you.

In 1 minute the champion is ready to make the dive out of the stage door and it is a dive because at every matinee there is a group of from 25 to 50 hanging around outside just waiting to get a nod from him or to touch him in a friendly fashion upon the shoulder.

Hello champ! Hello Jack! Various salutations, rattled at him from all sides. Jack grins a little self consciously.

"Hello boys!" He has rather a high pitched voice, a voice of the sort that seems typical of world famous athletes. The bell mouthed cadences it might be remarked, usually come from little men, the bell like baritone from actors and the husky, throaty roar from politicians and rumormongers.

"Come on," says Jack, "we'll beat it up to the hotel."

Jack Kearns, who has less inclination for avoiding the multitude stops to shake hands with several friends and invites them to come to the hotel, too.

Everyone crowds into the elevator and the elevator boy exchanges a difficult jocular with the champion and grins again and playfully taps him on the jaw with his fingers. No knight ever rose from the touch of a monarch's sword upon his shoulder with the scrupulous expression that adorns the face of the elevator jerk.

Coats off is the order once the company is gathered in the champion's suite.

Dempsey picks up a paper and starts to read. One of his most devoted heeler, a rather fat and chunky bond salesman, gets kidding with a light writer. A little touch of bitterness develops—you know, that sort of josh that has a tinge to it. Kearns and the rest watch for developments with

ST. ROSE GOES IN TO GAIN REVENGE

With only four more practice sessions before the opening game of the season with Dunkirk at St. Rose on Nov. 28, Coach Young of St. Rose faces the difficult task of choosing the five men to represent the St. Rose varsity on the basketball court this year.

The Rosario mentor has selected a first squad of 10 men which he has divided into two teams, both of which are so evenly matched it will be difficult to choose between them. On one team he has placed O'Connor at center, Clifton and Duffy at forward, and Boyle and Graft at guard. On the other, Lane holds down center, Stoll and Diamond, forwards and Madigan and O'Neil guards. The coach has chosen Duffy at center.

The star of the Red and White team is out to avenge their defeat of last season by Dunkirk when they lost by four points.

RAIN DAMPENS ARDOR OF YALE ENTHUSIASTS

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—(By United Press)—Thick gray clouds that splashed rain down intermittently today turned somber and sad a Yale that was all set for a historic holiday.

"It's Harvard luck," the Yale campus moaned.

Last year one of Yale's greatest teams was all set to get even for the 41 to 0 victory that Eddie Mahan's Harvard team scored ten years ago. Harvard wasn't so good last year but cloudburst came along and turned the Harvard stadium into a pond and Yale had to be satisfied with a 13 to 0 victory.

Today the fates seemed to have come again to save one of Harvard's worst teams from annihilation by one of Yale's best teams in the final game of the "Big Three" series.

Yale was betting 1 to 1 last night that Harvard would be beaten and was willing to wager 3 to 2 that Yale would win by more than 40 points but the rain came and crossed all the expectations.

It is tradition that on a sloppy wet field, the breaks count for everything. No team with a fast running attack and an overboard game can function 100 per cent on a slippery field with a wet ball.

While the dismal weather dampened the hopes of the Yale followers it failed to hold down the crowd. The same number of special trains and the same thousands and thousands flocked into the city. The Athletic office announced that no tickets had been turned in and predicted that the Yale bowl would be filled to its $9,000 limit. Sixty thousand spectators stood all afternoon in a down pour last year in the Harvard stadium to see the historic battle.

Change in the weather, of course, affected the betting and Yale odds dropped down to 2 to 1 and 5 to 3 this morning with few Harvard takers.

Neither of the coaches would announce his lineup but it was expected that the two teams would start as follows:

Yale	Position	Harvard
Bingham	LT	Camacho
Sturtevant	LT	Adams
Lovejoy	LT	Adams
Butterworth	LT	Adams
Luman	LT	Adams
Bench	LT	Adams
Pond	LT	Adams
Cottle	LT	Adams
Allen	LT	Adams
Quigley	LT	Adams
Tomlinson	LT	Adams
Frederick	LT	Adams
Murphy	LT	Adams
O'Brien	LT	Adams
Luff	LT	Adams

SHORTSTOPS ARE BADLY NEEDED BY FIVE CLUBS

NEW YORK—A good shortstop is the crying need of a number of American league clubs.

Since weakness at short is a serious fault, clubs so handicapped are certain to seek every effort to strengthen before the opening of next season.

The Chicago White Sox are the worst off, with the loss of Fred Goetz, a close second since Fred is still an uncertainty.

The New York Yankees just lost a successor to "Red" Smith, who showed by his play last season that he is a valuable asset.

St. Louis has a problem at short since Rigney is troubled with a back ailment that seriously affects his play.

Chick Galloway of the Philadelphia Athletics, a shining star 15 years ago, slumped badly in his all-around play last season.

Washington with its lineup of Cleveland with Ted Sewell and Ty Cobb with George Archainault, only clubs well fortified in the important position.

CONFERENCE RUNNERS IN FIELD

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Athletes representing all of the Western conference schools except Purdue and six non-conference teams, took the field today in the annual cross-country race of the Western conference.

Non-conference entries include teams from Iowa State, Marquette, Notre Dame, Michigan, Aggies, Oberlin and Ohio Wesleyan. Ohio State and Wisconsin were considered likely winners of the hill and lake race with

NEW YORK—(By Associated Press)—Stock prices turned reactionary at the opening of today's market with active selling for both accounts. Radio Corporation, American International Corporation and Wabash A. each opened a point lower while Mar. and Crude Oil, Union Pacific and Keweenaw common yielded fractionally. Sears Roebuck broke six points to 133 on the initial sale, and then sold at 135. Considering their volume, the early offerings, with few exceptions, were well absorbed. U. S. Steel Iron Pipe dropped 2 points and Northern Pacific, Chesapeake and Ohio, American Can, Davison Chemical and Woolworth dropped a point or more. Independent strength was shown by a few specialties. Union Bag and Paper advanced 1-2 points and United Cigar climbed 2, the latter at a new year's high. Oil Steel preferred advanced 1 and 1-3 points respectively. Foreign exchanges opened steady with trading quiet.

REFUSE DRY ACT

Ontario Town Secedes From Prohibition Verdict

TORONTO—(By United Press)—Municipally Sturgeon Falls has seceded from the Ontario Temperance Act, the town council having pronounced the act "null and void," and instructed the police force to take no further hand in the enforcement.

Sturgeon Falls is in the far north, where for months it has been the lumbering and mining centers have talked secession.

At the Ontario plebiscite, on Oct. 25, Sturgeon Falls recorded a vote of 1,040 for government control and only 102 for prohibition.

Police Chief Cussons' job has been threatened if he enforces the temperance act.

Stack Assassination Leads to Summary Action

VALETTA, Malta—(By Associated Press)—The first battalion of the East Lancashire Regiment has been suddenly ordered to Egypt and will sail next Wednesday.

LONDON—(By Associated Press)—The British public is expecting and the majority of the London press is demanding that the government take firm action toward Egypt in connection with the assassination in Cairo of Maj. Gen. Sir Lee Stack, governor general of the Sudan and sirdar of the Egyptian army. The opinion is widely expressed that, notwithstanding the Egyptian officials' compliance with their expressions of regret, the murder was actually a political crime originating in a desire to oust the British from the Sudan. The Daily Mail editorially demands that Great Britain revoke its grant of independence to Egypt, which it maintains has shown a lack of political capacity. The other commentators are less drastic, but contend that Great Britain must be ready to stand for no more outrages and that the Cairo government must punish the criminals and pay an indemnity. At the same time these writers hope that the London government will not act hottheadedly or in a panic.

Fall planting of trees and shrubs in many parts of the United States is preferred to spring planting. Wounds on roots are healed and a few new roots are produced by the time the plants are ready to grow in the spring.
